ALFONSO TAKES BRIDE

Who Is Princess Ena, Niece of King
Edward—Madrid Was Crowded
With Many Visitors All Day.

Madrid, May 31.—King Alfonso of Spain and Princess Ena of Battenberg, niece of King Edward of England, were married at noon today in the little church of Sagrario, in the presence of a distinguished company of about 1,000 persons, including special ambassadors from the chief countries of the world. The ceremony was performed by Cardinal Sanchez, Catholic primate of Spain, assisted by a number of high prelates, and was fully choral.

The city was more crowded than at the time of King Alfonso's coronation and the enthusiasm of the people was much greater. The police estimate that over 100,000 visitors were in the city. Thirty thousand soldiers were used to keep the streets clear. Four lines of soldiers stretched along the principal thoroughfares. All traffic was stopped and only those with special permits were allowed in the roadway.

Princess Ena spent last night at the royal villa of El Vardo, seven miles northwest of Madrid. She drove into the city this morning at nine o'clock, accompanied by her mother and the ladies of her suite. She went to the ministry of marines where she donned her wedding dress and then entered the state carriage, followed by her mother and the queen mother of Spain. She started for the church, escorted by a cavalcade of troops and high court officials.

At the same time King Alfonso drove out of the royal palace and the two processions continued together to the church, two miles away. The young people received an ovation all the way to the church door. At the conclusion of the ceremony, Cardinal Sanchez addressed a short sermon to the bride and groom, charging them to remain faithful and loving to each other and to continue throughout their married life, true children of the Catholic church.

The wedding procession to escort the king and queen back to the palace was formed immediately after the ceremony in the church. This was the most gorgeous spectacle of the day and the thing for which the people had been waiting since early morning. The procession was a mile and a half long and required an hour to pass a given point. The day was bright with not a cloud in the sky. The weather was oppressively warm.

MICHAEL DAVITT DIED
IN DUBLIN LAST NIGHTNotable Career Closed After Long Suffering Which Began With a Toothache.

Dublin, May 31.—A notable career closed last night when, after a long and painful illness, Michael Davitt died peacefully and painlessly at twelve o'clock in the presence of his eldest son, Michael, and his two daughters, who had devotedly attended him through his illness, and of many of his most intimate friends, including John Dillon. Shortly before his death, Father Hutton had been with him. Mrs. Davitt, who had been in constant attendance on her husband until a few days ago, when she herself was taken ill, lies prostrate in the same hospital, too weak to leave her room. She has not yet been informed of her husband's death. It is stated that Mr. Davitt left a written message. Mr. Davitt retired from the representation of South Mayo in Parliament in 1899, but to the last took a keen interest in the politics of his country.

Death was due to blood poisoning which followed two operations for necrosis of the jawbone and spread so rapidly that all efforts to stay its course were unavailing. Mr. Davitt's illness began with an insidious attack of toothache to which he paid no attention until John Dillon urged him to have recourse to medical advice.

For some time there were hopes of his recovery, but the state of his health, which was undermined by exertions at the recent general elections, greatly hindered his progress.

REJUVENATED RANGERS
BEAT GREEN MOUNTAINSIn Opening Game of the Association
Football Season Which Occurred
Yesterday, by Score of 3 to 2.

The Barre Rangers football team defeated the Green Mountain team at the Rangers' Berlin street ground yesterday, by the score of three to two. There was as large a crowd present as watched the last of the interesting league football games last fall.

The Rangers team is made up almost entirely of men who have come here recently from Scotland. Some of them have been league players in that country, and all of them certainly know how to play association football. The new Green Mountain team is made up of some members of the old Rangers team, the Bon-accords and others, and shows the making of a good team.

The first scoring was done by Riddle of the Rangers, the next by Dugdill of the same team. The next one was for the Rangers and was kicked by the veteran football man, William Jopp. The Rangers used some nice team work, and secured one more goal during the last part of the game.

The contest was close and exciting and the large line of rooters along the side lines kept up a continuous cheering for their favored team. This is the first football game of the year, but the enthusiasts of this city and vicinity promise that there will be more interesting games this year than ever before.

30 VETERANS
WERE IN LINEMemorial Day Exercises in Barre Yesterday

BIG CROWDS ON STREET

Speaker of the Day Was Prof. C. H.
Drown of Walpole, N. H., Who Gave a Scholarly Address.

Fair weather favored Memorial day in this city, and most fitting and successful exercises were carried out. The warm sunshine aided in bringing out a large crowd, which lined the sidewalks from Depot square to the city park, to view the parade, and a great many followed the procession to the cemetery. The parade headed by Marshalls Dr. Joe W. Jackson and C. M. Willey began to move from the starting point, Depot square, at a few minutes after ten o'clock and proceeded up Washington street to Elmwood cemetery. After a short halt and the giving of the salute, the return march was made to the City Hall, where the services of the day were held.

The parade, which presented a fine appearance, was made up as follows: Marshalls, police force and firemen; drum corps; St. Aldemar commandery, Knights Templar, James S. Wilson, Jr., in command; Knights of Pythias, Uniform rank, Capt. Bergeron in command; Grand Army Veterans, Captain A. E. Dodge in command; Spanish war veterans, Captain Thomas G. Carswell in command. In the rear were carriages with Mayor William Barclay, City Clerk James Mackay, the board of aldermen, the speaker and G. A. R. veterans too feeble to walk the distance to the cemetery. There were about thirty in number of the Grand Army veterans who turned out.

About the usual fair-sized crowd was present at the exercises in the City Hall. The veterans were seated at the front of the hall, and behind them the ladies of the G. A. R. The stage was very prettily decorated with flags, flowers and nothings. Rang up at the back of the stage was the banner, "Veterans of 61-65," in black and white. The choir of the Congregational church, composed of H. S. Chapman, Mrs. B. W. Bradley, Miss Maudie E. Harris and Geo. Inglis, sang several selections during the exercises in a very enjoyable manner. Miss Anna Inglis presided at the piano. After the reading of the general orders by the Adjutant L. H. Thurston, the salute to the dead was given by Chaplain A. J. Baldwin. President Lincoln's Gettysburg address was then read by W. W. Wishart. Prayer was offered by the Rev. F. A. Poole and after the singing of the national anthem, "America," the address of the day was given by Prof. Carroll H. Drown of Charlestown, N. H.

Prof. Drown gave a scholarly and interesting discourse of nearly an hour, and he was very closely followed by his hearers. He said in part: "I believe Memorial day to be a most sacred and sublime day. It binds the hearts of the veterans with iron bands that cannot be broken. To them it is a day of both sadness and cheer. When I think of this great nation and when I view its wonderful progress, its organizations, its wealth and prosperity, I cannot see how it is possible, so happy, could have fought such a war. This nation contains people from every country in the world and soon after they come here they become good American citizens. We must consider this country one of the greatest nations of the world. You veterans of the G. A. R., know what it has cost to bring this great prosperity. Every man, be he rich or poor, dressed in silk or homespun, ought to take off his hat when he meets a veteran of the great rebellion. When Lincoln was elected the long-dreaded withdrawal from Congress and joined in the work of secession.

"That great general, Robert E. Lee, tried in vain to persuade the South not to secede. It was one of the crowning efforts of his life. But Fort Sumter was fired on and captured, and the great struggle was on. It is but little said the speaker, 'that we can do to repay a great debt we owe to these veterans. This day should be most sacred in the heart of every citizen, whether he be foreign born or not. Let us on this day stress their graves with flowers while we speak of their patriotism and deeds of valor.'

In speaking at some length on the war, its generals and its soldiers, the speaker declared that it was no mean enemy that we had to fight, but it was our equal. It was Greek to Greek, and one of the greatest and bloodiest wars in the history of the world. Battle after battle our valiant soldiers lost, but it was from such a determination, from such a general as Grant, who resolved to fight it out at the Wilderness, and for such a cause that God gave us the victory.

In closing he said: "Let us guard the fame of the dead veterans and of those still living, so that no harm shall ever befall their sacred name. At the time of these exercises a very enjoyable dinner was served to the veterans and invited guests in the vestry of the Congregational church by the ladies of the G. A. R. Following the dinner a most interesting hour was spent with impromptu speaking. Comrade E. L. Smith was toastmaster and called upon the following gentlemen for short remarks: Mayor Barclay, Rev. C. E. Freeman, William Wishart, Rev. W. C. McIntyre, Mrs. Hannah E. Batchelder, Rev. W. A. Kizzie and Comrade L. H. Thurston.

The following poem by Chaplain A. J. Baldwin of the City Hall.

To the Unknown Dead.
They left their dearest friends and home
To fight their country's foe;
They never returned to tell their fate,
Nor shall we ever know.

BIG ROBBERY
LAST NIGHTTraction Company Loses
Nearly $500

AT OFFICE BUILDING

Break Discovered This Morning When Conductor Went to Make a Deposit—Perhaps by Professionals.

Following a day of big receipts the safe of the Barre & Montpelier Power & Traction company was looted last night, the burglars securing in the neighborhood of $500. The exact amount is not known, as the greater part was not counted. The work is said to show the earmarks of professionals.

The break was discovered early this morning, when the first conductor to make deposit of fares went into the company's office, situated between this city and Montpelier. The conductor found the office door unlocked and the safe door swung open, while the contents of the safe had been ransacked. The safe was not blown. It was either left unlocked last night or else, if locked, the combination was worked. That part of the money which was the receipts of Tuesday's business was counted, while that of yesterday was not. It is the custom for the conductors to make their deposits in envelopes. Most of them had turned in their collections of Wednesday, so that it is certain that the amount was large.

The situation of the office building is favorable to looting. It stands on the river bank, fifty feet south of the car barn, four miles from this city. The nearest occupied house is 150 feet away and across the road and partially concealed. The time was auspicious for robbery, as the receipts of the holiday were large, the cars carrying big crowds to and from this city and Montpelier. Besides, there were over 1,000 people carried to the ball game at Intercity park.

ELOPEMENT AT SPAULDING.

It Was the "Elopement of Ellen," as Presented by Seniors.

The seniors of Spaulding high school gave the play, "The Elopement of Ellen," in the high school chapel on Tuesday evening before almost the largest crowd that ever gathered in the school. Miss Annie Averill took the part of a young housewife whose servant girl has eloped with a coachman, and who is having a hard time to find money to take her place. In the meantime she is getting up at five o'clock in the morning to get her work done. LeRoy Darling took the part of the husband, who spends a good many hours in the heat, securing employment agencies to find a girl. Miss Theresa Scott took the part of a young woman who accepts the position as servant girl, she being a student at Wellesley who is making some researches on economical subjects. William Ayers, William Halvosa and Miss Bessie Jones took roles as guests at the home of the troubled couple. Max Fisher shone as the new minister of the parish.

Everyone in the audience was well pleased with the play and the manner in which the participants took their parts. The treasury of the senior class will be most gratifyingly augmented by the proceeds, which having been nearly 300 people present.

IDENTIFIED BY MEANS
OF CARDS AND LETTERSAndrew Wark of Websterville Was Nearly Decapitated by Boston
& Maine Train Near Wells
River Yesterday.

Andrew Wark, formerly of Websterville, was killed by a train on the Boston and Maine railroad, near Wells River, yesterday and the body was brought to Barre today for burial. A brother, Robert Wark of Websterville, received word of the tragedy this morning, but there were no details given. A dispatch from South Ryegate, however, says that he was probably struck by the airline express from Montreal to Boston, due at Wells River at 2 a. m. The head was nearly severed from the body, and the deceased had been working in Groton but had been in Wells River for a day or two. It is thought that he started to return to Groton and got on the wrong track, to be struck by a B. & M. train. The body was found by two river men who were on their way to Wells River. They at once reported the case to the selectmen of Ryegate, who responded with Dr. Lee of Wells River. Cards and letters in the man's clothes made identification possible.

The deceased was 38 years of age and had resided in Websterville about 15 years leaving there a year ago. He was last employed by Charles Scott as a quartermaster. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Jane Wark of Websterville, three brothers, Robert and James of Websterville and William of South Barre, and three sisters, Mrs. Annie Jamison of South Barre, Mrs. H. E. Crickshaw and Miss Mary Wark of Websterville. The funeral will be held from the Wark home in Websterville tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the burial will be in the Wilson cemetery.
